WHENCE COME SCARLET-FEVER, DIPETHE-RIA, &C .- Chicago is suffering from a plumbers' pestilence. To the dishonesty, laziness, carelessness, and stupidity which now notoriously characterize the plumbing done in three fourths of the houses built since the fire, and in all houses built for speculators | by contract, must be attributed the three epidemics which have desolated so many homes-scarlet-fever, diphtheria, and typhoid, and other febrile diseases directly precipitated by sewers and alluvial gases. The only preventive of a general spread of the plague lies with the individual house-holders. The city cannot send inspectors into every dwelling to examine the water-closets and explore the failures of the plumber. Nor can this task be phoid, and other febrile diseases directly ures of the plumber. Nor can this task be discharged by even intelligent lay persons with unerring accuracy. If there be bad air in the house, that is prima facie evidence that the seeds of disease are germinating, and the average nose is an unimpeachable witness, upon whose testimony sewerage expert and an honest plumber should be immediately called in. But, unfortunately for the general health, all atmospheric poisons do not emit an odor recognizable by the average nose; the deadliest germs are moving about in an insidi-ous secrecy which the senses cannot detect, and the most fatal sewer-gas may be in actual possession of the walls of a house without affording any demonstration of its presence until after the chill of death has for twenty-five cents. fallen upon the unwarned and unsuspecting inmates .- Chicago Times.

A learned serjeant was once accused of having disgraced the bar by taking silver from a client, the etiquette of the profession requiring that his fee should be in gold. "I took silver," he replied, "be cause I could not get gold; but I took every farthing the fellow had in the world, and I hope you do not call that disgracing the profession."

"I am convinced that the world is daily growing better," remarked the reverend gentleman to a brother clergyman; "my congregation is constantly increasing." A proposal is made to lay a street railway rack of the following description in San Francisco: The rail, it is proposed, shall be twenty inches wide at the base and three at the top, over which the car-wheels glide. The rail is hollow, and designed to enclose the large gas and water mains side by side on the base, the connections to be made from them into the upper stories of houses along the route. Over these mains another tube encloses the telegraph wires. The rail is to be supported on large posts fourteen feet high, and placed at distances of fourteen and twenty feet apart. The posts are to be secured in the sidewalks at the curbs, and will serve as hitching-posts, and, with proper connections with the water mains, hydrants may be attached to them.

It is the same farm fermerly owned by Samuel Davis, lies near the lands of C. R. Francis, James Hill's estate, and others; and it is said to have upon it a good body of woods, which is valuable by reason of its proximity to the railroad. It also has a FRAMED DWELLING with four rooms, and some out-houses somewhat out of repair.

On THE SAME DAY, at 4½ o'clock P. M., we will sell upon the premises the VALUABLE SUBURBAN FARM known as "Laurel Spring," lying on the Osborne turnpike, one and a half miles from the city, and bounded on three sides by the Tree Hill estate, owned by Mr. F. Stearns. It contains about 31 ACRES of HIGHLY-IMPROVED LAND, and has npon it a LARGE BRICK DWELLING, with the usual out-buildings, and a fine spring in the yard.

This was once regarded as one of the most attractive country-scats near the city, and with the outlay of a reasonable sum of money could be made, in
